VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1867. NO. 278.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

A YOUNG NORTH CAROLINIAN IN TEXAS,—ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

The young men of the Atlantic States ought to remain here. Their talents and industry are needed. Yet, whenever they do emigrate, we are glad to hear of their success and to record their achievements.—We lately mentioned that Colonel John K. Connally, late of the Fifty-fifth North Carolina infantry in the Confederate army, had been invited to deliver an address before the Literary Society of Baylor University at Independence, Texas. The Galveston News of the 16th. instant contains a report of this address, which we would be glad to compliment by publishing in full, did not our space forbid it.

We make the following eloquent extracts:

"These are no ordinary times, and ordinary exertions will not suffice for those who must dig anew the foundations of their fortunes, and remove the rubbish of its mighty ruins. Old ideas, old institutions, all relics of the past, loved for their innate worth and association, have been torn from us, and made to pile higher the sacrifice. Temples have fallen about our heads, States have quit their astral orbits, and sunk back into vassal provinces. Tradition has swallowed up the things that were, and change stamped its impress upon the things that are; but amid the ashes and decay of cities and hamlets, amid the desecration and destruction of hearths and homes, amid the Romish rape of States and constitutions, amid the universal wreck and ruin of a nation and a people's weal, I thank heaven that the same God who walled the Red Sea for Israel's flight is to day our God, and who, if we are but true to ourselves and complain not, will, in his own good time, lead us into his own appointed Canaan of deliverance. But in the meantime there is something for us to do; we cannot with safety remain either idle or indifferent; for the black circumstances around us are heavily surcharged with lightning, whose flash has already stricken and shivered the grand old oaks and tall pines in our forests; and, unless conveyed to the earth by conductors, must soon consume its stunted undergrowth. We are that undergrowth; and labor, employments, study, are the only conductors. Shall we point the rod, and avert the doom, or cravenly await an ignominious death? By labor we may have material wealth, and material wealth is material strength. Then labor, that you may replant and reharvest these broad bottoms now reveling in waste, and that our hill tops may groan beneath the weight of grapes and olives; labor, that our prairies may be dotted with lowing and fleecy herds, and that our rivers, those silver veins of the earth bounding with its life-blood, may be freighted with rich cargoes of all cereal fruits; labor that the shrill whistle of machinery may echo and re-echo throughout the length and breadth of all the lands in our glorious young State—and study—but need I speak of the importance of being students here, when you all know that study is the God given crucible into which was thrown chaos and out of which came knowledge—knowledge of science, which brings the stars to our feet, and enables us to look upon the spots of the sun; knowledge of navigation, which leads us aright through the wilderness of waters and makes the ocean our slave; knowledge of mortal man and of the immortal God? Would you be great? then you must labor. You cannot shelter from the storms of life in the most gorgeous air castles, nor can you ever become giants among men by eating to grow. Great men are industrious, but, great or small, there is work to do. It matters not whether you labor with hand or head, but labor, and when you have come upon the world's stage and selected your role, play it well, whether it be king or page. Duty discharged is the same in all ranks, and a Hero's heart has as often throbbed beneath a private's blouse as against a General's star." * * * *

"To those of you who from inclination or necessity will become farmers, mechanics, or stock-growers, and a good education is as necessary here—I say labor steadily, faithfully, and dissipate not all the earnings which will daily accrue. An honest laboring and temperate man, when coupled with a virtuous and industrious woman, must succeed, and being rich enough to be above the inconveniences of poverty, and poor enough to be below the cares and annoyances of wealth, may be the happiest people in the world. You can easily test this, for you are young, can labor and be temperate, and as for the other half, you might play blind man's buff with every bright-eyed girl in Texas and never catch other than a good wife. (Dealening applause.) And then, though you may not live in marble fronts and promenade their stately porticos, yet you may be lord and master of a home where plenty heaps the board, and there is appetite for its enjoyment; where the woodbine seeks the lattice, and there is a hand to twine it; where happiness will go forth with you in the morning and in the evening love will lie down with you to sleep." * * *

"There is one spirit which I would arouse in you, and had I a tuneful tongue would awaken within the heart of every man, woman and child in the State. I mean State pride, that feeling which is conceived in innate worth, born of generous emulation and consummated in a glorious achievement. It was this that perched the Roman Eagle upon the spires of every city in the world. It was this that prompted the reply of Leonidas—"Slave, go and tell thy master that I am a Spartan;" and here, in our own land, it was this that made Virginia the mould of heroes, the cradle and grave of American liberty. I am not a Virginian, but in my heart I do love even the stones, and with all my soul reverence every inch of the blood-imbued soil of this Southern Thermopylæ; and what made Virginia the synonym of hospitality, chivalry and glory? Is it that her fertile valleys cheapen the meed of open doors by their luxuriance? Is it that upon the summit of her mountains her children are the playmates of eagles? Is it that her women are fairer and incite to deeds of valor? No; fertile are her valleys, but they are more than rivalled by these maiden prairies, which, when but kissed by the sun, do quicken into life.—Pure and fresh is her mountain air, but purer and fresher are the salted breezes of your Gulf; and her women—God bless them—are as fair as fair may be; but not fairer than these. What is it, then, that makes Virginia? I answer, State pride!—the Queen mother of greatness. If we would be great, we must not be sectional. Who ever heard of a Province in Rome, a County in Virginia? Be all Texians—Texians, who, being the legitimate offspring of a noble ancestry, are determined not to become groveling worms in the gold dust of their sires. What! does the blue blood of your fathers run water in your veins, that with pride in their past, you have only despair for your future? Are you willing to become reeds through which is to be blown the bubble of other men's greatness? Every manly heart will throb its indignant No!—Resolve, then, to be men, and in all things to act like men—men who know their worth, and knowing are proud of it—men who can so bear defeat as to prove themselves worthy of success—men who have everything to regret, but nothing of which to be ashamed. We were overpowered, but "there is no armor against Fate," and "the stars in their courses fought against Sisera." * * * * * * *

"I am proud of Southern Washington, who fleshed the sword of American liberty in the very teeth of the lion of British oppression—proud of his son, R. E. Lee, who with that same sword held the world at bay, and not until it had drunk deep of the mixed blood of all the nations of the earth did he sheath and hang it upon the walls of Fate; proud of every son of the South who followed the old hero to the wall; proud, tearfully proud, of Johnston, of Jackson, and all that host of heroic dead, a flood of whose patriotic blood bore aloft for four immortal years the ark of liberty, and not until Omnipotence had leagued with an opposing world did its crimson billows recede and leave the vessel wrecked high upon the shoal of destiny.—Yes! I am proud of my country, and of my countrymen, but prouder, proudest of my countrywomen. Set is the sun of our nation, but the star of their glory lights the night of defeat and illumines bondage with the splendor of its blaze. What though the South be dead, she is "Dead Cæsar." Let us, then, but be true to ourselves, and though our young past was overwhelmed by the world-alliance and our earthly all swallowed up in its overthrow, yet, by the immortal bodies that bled for it, by the eternal spirits that died, we have more wealth of Fame than poverty of Fate, and a double laurel for every link in the chain that binds us."

A good woman is not thoroughly known before marriage. Of how many sweet domestic virtures may she not be possessed, of which even he who values her most highly is unaware, until he has placed her in his own mansion to be the guardian angel of his household happiness.

Marriage, says an enthusiastic votary of Hymen, is a state of which it is unnecessary to describe the happiness, for two reasons: first, because it would be superfluous to those who are in the enjoyment of its blessings; and secondly, because it would be impossible to those who are not.

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. WM. E. PELL, | SEATON GALES, EDITORS.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1867.

THADDEUS STEVENS, THE RADICAL LEADER.

No really small man, such as Mr. Stevens is, has acquired so much notoriety in this country as he has. A mere imitator and mouth-piece of Wendell Phillips, who, it is said, is the real brains of the Republican party, he has acquired a power over the Congress and the Republican party, which is remarkable. We have seen frequent allusions to his profanity, and to his private morals, as to his relations with his colored house-keeper, but the public have evidently been incredulous. The fact that we have seen no denial of the character and conduct of this man, as sketched in the following extract of a letter from the editor of the Union Springs (Ala.) Times, written for his paper and published North and South, gives a strong support to the charges made against Mr. Stevens' private character, and justifies us in taking them as true. The editor visited Mr. Stevens at his own house in Lancaster, Pa., and, upon the whole, gives a favorable account of Mr. Stevens' hospitality and general deportment, but discloses a rottenness in his private life, which calls for general and utter condemnation. Were we thoroughly steeped and double dyed in Radical principles, we could never follow that man.

"I visited Lancaster, and in the forenoon of Friday, 23d instant, obtained an audience. Let me first give you a portrait of the man and his household. Radicals have a good deal to say about the close relationship some of the former slaves bear to their masters and their masters' friends. They tell Southern people that numbers among their servile class are too yellow to be white, and too white to be black. They must stop this. It is horribly unkind to their great leader and master. In the city of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, in the godly North, nigh unto the pure city of Philadelphia, Thaddeus Stevens has for years lived in open adultery with a mulatto woman, whom he seduced from her husband, a full-blooded negro. This mulatto manages his households, both in Lancaster and at Washington, receives or rejects his visitors at will, speaks of Mr. Stevens and herself as "we," and in all things comports herself as if she enjoyed the rights of a lawful wife. I have no word of unkindness or abuse for her.—She is a neat, tidy house-keeper, and appears to be as polite as well-trained negroes generally are. As to Mr. Stevens' connection with her, it is his own business, and entirely a matter of taste. I only mention the fact, that the ultra-godly, super-sanctified saints of the African ascendency, may get the beam out of their own eye, before they gouge so mercilessly at the mote in ours."

The morals, as well as the regard for law, of the Editor of the Times, must be low indeed, when he can, in a public newspaper, say that the conduct of an open adulterer and violator of the law "is his own business and entirely a matter of taste," especially in a public man who fills the high position of Mr. Stevens. This seriously impairs, we admit, the credibility of his testimony. Yet these things have been so repeatedly hinted at, and never, so far as we know, having been denied, that they authorize the belief of them.

It is the most natural thing in the world, that a man, who can seduce from her husband his colored wife and make her his own, should be a negrophilist, a blatant equality man—indeed should be any thing that is mean and despicable. But that such a man should be an acknowledged leader of a great party, which claims to have some respect for morals and religion, is shocking. It is especially so, when that man, in the performance of public duty, can prate about moral law and justice—can dilate upon truth and right, and fill his speeches with numerous quotations from the Word of God, as he has done in his late confiscation speech especially, so highly praised and called "Mr. Stevens' Great Speech." Such a man is a moral monster—a reproach to any association; and the Republican party compromises all its moral principles, when it acknowledges such a man to be a leader. If Mr. Stevens reflects the moral stamen of the people of his District and of his party, how wretchedly corrupt must they be! He robs, if the statement be true, a poor colored man of his wife, and then makes her his own! An open adulterer before his people, and yet a member of Congress and a leader in the Republican party. Good Heavens! From what a height have the American people fallen.

Apropos to the subject of "magnanimity," which we discussed on yesterday, we find the following pregnant sentences in Mr. Seward's late speech in Baltimore, on the occasion of the reception of the President:

"Some of the citizens of this country, who have lately had a fearful civil war on their hands, are now very unwilling to let it go without finishing it, for tear it will be found when they are dead and gone, that they left civil and fraternal war unfinished and incomplete. My own theory about civil war is this: The fewer we have of them the better, and the way to prevent them is to cultivate good and friendly relations by doing justice to all classes and to all conditions of men, and as soon as the flag of rebellion is struck, then forthwith extend the conqueror's hand to lift up, and cheer, and sustain, and encourage the prostrate foe."

MAXIMILIAN.—The murder of this hapless and gifted ex-Monarch by his brutal captors, as announced by telegraph on yesterday, will shock civilization. It sounds the knell of Maximilian government in Mexico. How the result will be accomplished, we do not venture to predict; but it will be effected, and that at no remote period.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Southern people, white and black, are very strongly urged to join the Republican party. Indeed, Congress and the District Commanders seem determined to force the Southern people to join that party or none. We have said there is no use for parties in the South. There is really but one opinion and one feeling among all intelligent Southern people, and that is a desire that the Republican party should stop the war upon the South and restore the Union. That is our feeling and the feeling of the masses of the people. We are tired of war. We found it did not pay over two years ago, and we have been seeking peace ever since. O, when will the Republican party stop the war? It claims to be the government, to hold the supreme power of the land—the power to kill and to make alive. When, we ask, will it stop the war? No "rebel" has raised his hand or voice in opposition to peace for more than two years. No "rebel" soldier has handled a musket or worn his gray militaire, or sought harm to the Northern army, or opposed the Federal Government, for more than two years, yet the Republican party has kept up the war upon us till now. Why is this?

We are asked to join the Republican party. What is it? What are its principles? When was it born? Who is the father of it? What was its platform in 1856? What in 1860? What in 1864?—What in 1867? We are anxious to know its true history. We will not do it injustice, if we know it. We are anxious to know, we say, what are the principles of the Republican party? What does it hold to be sound political doctrine? What are its aims and purposes? We find almost every man, who calls himself a Republican, has his own notions, his own political principles; few agreeing in common with each other, vastly differing, indeed, with each other, yet all claiming to be Republicans. We ask, again, when will the Republican party stop the war? When will the Republican party give us peace and Union? What are the principles of the Republican party? Do let us know.

"THE RALEIGH REGISTER."

While the Sentinel extends to the new journal all proper professional good wishes, we cannot refrain from expressing surprise and regret at its assumption of name and adoption of motto. The proprietors are known to have been connected with the Union Register at Greensboro'. The material and mail-books of the latter were brought with it to Raleigh. The simple substitution of the word "Raleigh" for "Union" could not have been so strongly objected to; but the proprietors, not having bought the fixtures and books of the old Raleigh Register, the public will not be able to perceive the strict propriety of their adopting its motto and style, as well as employing the term "New Series,"—as if the new Raleigh Register were a lineal descendant of the old. It is our duty, therefore, to guard the public on that point.

We know that, so far as Mr. Goodloe is concerned, he has been influenced, in this matter, by his admiration for the character of the old Register and that of its founder,—brought up, as Mr. G. was, in the political school, whose doctrines it inculcated for so many years. Viewed in that light, his action can only be regarded as complimentary. But if there was any one distinctive feature that characterized the Raleigh Register, from 1799 up to the period of its decease, it was an unflinching devotion to the Constitution of the Country. That was its guide, its landmark,—earnestly worshipped as the ark of our national salvation and the very Palladium of our civil liberties. If Mr. Goodloe shall signalize his "Register" by a similar spirit, we shall be glad of it. But, unfortunately, he is intimately identified with a party organization,—whatever may be his editorial tolerance and moderation,—that holds the Constitution in high disregard and has trampled it under foot as an obsolete or unprogressive idea. Joseph Gales, or Western R. Gales, were they living, could no more be in political accord with the spirit of modern Radicalism, than was the former with that sentiment of political bigotry which caused his exile from the Mother Country.

The Register is to be published Semi-Weekly. It presents a very handsome appearance, and the editorials, in the number before us, are written with dignity and ability. We hope that Mr. Goodloe, personally, may find the tripod pleasant and agreeable.

EXPENSIVE CITY.—At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners held in the city of Raleigh on the evening of the 28th ult., accounts against the city, amounting to $2,629, were audited and allowed. To us, in this town of quiet and good order, this looks enormous, and in truth it is a large sum.—We cannot see how the expenses of our native city should have grown to such proportions, unless it be in consequence of an increased population, etc. We remember well, when the venerable Joseph Gales, deceased, acted as mayor for simply the honor—it was found, then, a hard matter to get a board of commissioners to serve; now, place and position are sought, and much excitement attends a city election.

The Goldsboro Morning Star thus twits our "city fathers" about the expensiveness of this city. There is no doubt of its being an expensive place, any and every way. The worst is, that the funds are disbursed upon so many objects, that it is difficult to tell what becomes of them. But our present Board will look closely to the expenditures. We certainly have the best police the city has had for years. We have fewer difficulties, and misdemeanors are more readily ferretted out than heretofore. But times have really altered since the days of the venerable Joseph Gales. We have more people more crime, more laziness, and greater waste, than in those days. Alas! the good old days are gone, we fear never to return.

There are over twenty thousand acres of land in Alabama planted in sweet potatoes this year, and which will produce eight hundred thousand bushels.

STATE ITEMS.

——All the trestle work on the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford Railroad was damaged,—some of it very seriously,—by the recent flood. On the Brown Marsh trestle, 2,950 feet were washed away. The work of reparation is rapidly progressing, and in a few days everything will be O. K.

——Our Hillsboro' friends will be somewhat surprised, we imagine, at the following rhapsody, which we find in the Norfolk Journal, over the classic "Eno," which runs anent that ancient and pleasant burgh:

"The Druids would have gloried in such a rivulet in earlier days, and Bellini would have surpassed all other maestri could he have stationed Norma on its shaded banks."

——James Brinkley, one of the party convicted of murder, last week, at Kinston, and sentenced to be hung on the 11th, inst., has been respited by his Excellency, Gov. Worth, to the 9th. of August. It will be remembered that the brother of James, sentenced with him, has made a confession, exculpating him. Active efforts are being made to have the unfortunate young man pardoned, in view of this fact.

——George Washington White, a negro, was drowned in the Cape Fear, at Wilmington, on Sunday.

——The Wilmington Journal, of the 30th. ult., correctly says:

"Unless restrained by illegal force, or for the want of a quorum, the Legislature will meet according to its own adjournment."

It adjourned to meet on the third Monday in August next.

——The Wilmington Journal speaks of the high price of vegetables in that market. We are surprised at that. They are so abundant every where, they ought to be cheap. But market people have learned that those who buy are foolish enough to pay high prices for every thing, and they are sure to ask enough. The idea that every thing, except newspapers, should bear two prices, while money is so scarce, is ridiculous.

——The Wilmington Dispatch thus deploringly speaks of the business prospects of Wilmington. We sympathize with the Dispatch and hope that better luck will be realized:

"Our mercantile friends have been calculating for some time past upon an increased trade and a renewed prosperity as soon as the crops, of which most promising accounts had come from every direction, should be harvested; but, alas! for these calculations, the injury which has been sustained by planters within the last fifteen days is almost irreparable, and those who are best informed, and whose calculations are most reliable, estimate that the business of this city has been injured to the extent of one or two million of dollars."

——The Wilmington Dispatch has at last realized the fact that "boys" are an unprofitable and unpopular class of the human race. It goes into a description of these bipeds, after the following sort:

"They are always throwing brickbats at sick puppies, or tying tinpans to the tails of frightened cats, or fighting, or wearing out their pants at the knees, or smoking rattan, or in some other sort of devilment, and consequently keeping their doating parents on thorns from the moment they put on their first pair of breeches, till they get old enough to commence cultivating puny mustaches, and writing doggered to the girls."

It morever thinks that perhaps, "if they were set back, and put into frocks again, they might be better. Nothing else will do any good, unless they are made to lie in bed all day, every day for a week. That is a good remedy."

——The Asheville News, of the 27th ult., says that "the Spring and early Summer of 1867 will long be remembered in this section as the 'rainy season.'" It represents that they have had three storms in that section, which have done great damage to roads, bridges, fences and crops.

——The Salisbury papers speak of great damage to the crops in that section.

——The Lincolnton Courier makes about the same representation in regard to that region.

——The Statesville American, in alluding to the positions of Helper's new book, expresses the hope that Southern editors and people will not take sides in the war that will be waged between the Radicals and the negroes, regarding the expulsion of the latter from the country.

——The Bailey Dramatic Troupe, of Charlotte, are to play a Drama, in three acts, written by Mrs. Fanny Downing.

——The Salisbury Banner presses the claims of Jno. I. Shaver, Esq., of that place, for the Presidency of the North Carolina Railroad.

THE NEW YORK Herald, in earnestly advocating the re-assembling of Congress, runs the following historical parallel, which is very suggestive:

"The meeting of a legislative body in the northern temperate zone, in the "heated term" of July, is suggestive of a revolutionary crisis, and July, as attested in the revolutionary chapter of France, the United States and other countries, is the most revolutionary month in the calendar."

The analogy between the present Congress and the Jacobin Assembly of the French Revolution is apposite, though it seems to have no terrors for the Herald. To those who have read history, the correspondence is alarming and portentous.

DAMAGE TO CROPS IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

From our South Carolina exchanges we learn that the damage sustained by crops in that State has been fearful, though possibly not to the extent experienced in our own State. In some sections—there are very few exceptions—the damage has not been so great, but throughout the greater portion of the State planters have suffered severely.

The Marion Star says that the damage done in that section is almost incalculable; many of the bridges over small streams have been carried away, and on several plantations the crops have been under water for several days. Still the farmers are not discouraged, and think that, with favorable seasons hereafter, they will make fair crops.—Wilmington Journal.

The "ex-rebel" Gen. Gordon has been paying a visit to the Union General McAllister, at Trenton, N. J.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

SALEM, N. C., June 29th, 1867.

Messrs. Editors:—A traveller could hardly pass through this town without being struck with its peculiar architecture. A vein of German extraction runs in a south-easterly direction from the Wyoming country of Pennsylvania, through Virginia, this part of North Carolina and the upper part of Georgia, which preserves a peculiarly original appearance, and is one continuous similarity of building, dressing and living.—The people are remarkably honest, thrifty and healthy. But the origin is perceptible, and the national extraction unmistakable.

There is an air of what the world calls cosiness, that makes Salem a most inviting place to a man of domestic turn.

It is the centre of a fine country. And perhaps nothing is more perceptible than the adaptedness of the people to emergencies,—a sort of determination not to be overcome. When the war closed, having but poor farming facilities, they levied upon the fruit, and made it support them; and the trade in dried fruit has grown already to proportions a stranger would hardly believe, and it seems destined to continue.

THE COLLEGE.

The time-honored Female College received a stunning blow from small pox, last year; but not only has the disease disappeared, but the letters of application for places for young ladies, at the next session, give proof of a very fine prospect, and a return to former proportions. It is undoubtedly a fine institution, and a healthy place.

Mr. E. A. Vogler, one of the most extensive merchants of this section of North Carolina, is putting up one of the handsomest brick stores of the day. It will have nearly every modern improvement, and altogether is a very great addition to Salem.

SUNNY SIDE.

Is the name of an improvement that is deservedly attracting attention. Mr. V. sometime since purchased two small tracts of moderate land, lying side by side, and planned a beautiful model farm, making milk the specialty at present. Under his system, the investment is made to produce its own fertilizers. With eleven fine milch cows, and a herd of calves, promiscuously gathered, and a collection of superior breeds of hogs, he has a very great collection of fertilizers, which he puts upon the land. The wisdom of his course is already apparent. His land is yielding about twenty-five bushels of wheat to the acre; though formerly it would hardly have grown five bushels, probably. Which is best, to plant three acres of poor land in wheat, and make twenty-five bushels of wheat, or plant one acre and get the same result? The seed and the ploughing of two acres are saved, and their equivalent put on the land in the form of fertilizers, with less care and labor.

Mr. V. has introduced many improvements in implements and breeds. He has the celebrated Buckeye mower and reaper combined. He has a young bull from Lancaster County, Pa., which is one of the very finest animals I ever saw. He has a cow that gives six quarts of milk per day, and, with his other ten cows, has a fine yield of milk. He has a milk wagon supplying Salem with milk, at the old price of ten cents a quart.

The advantage of deep subsoiling I never saw more distinctly than on his place. Of an acre of land, one half subsoiled and the other half not, though sowed alike, the subsoiled part was three hudred per cent. the best.

Salem, you and your readers know, is famed for its jeans. The works are in full blast.

I have dropped in upon the Editor of the Western Sentinel, in the adjoining town of Winston, and found him in good heart,—a worthy craftsman.

I have spent my time here at Breitz's Hotel, and, for kindness and comfort, I commend it to my friends who may have to visit Salem. Mr. B. and his lady have but one idea, apparently, concerning their house, and that is to do all they can for their guests.

Yours

ITINERANT.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—The Assessor's books show that 2,097 white persons have been assessed for taxes in this city for the fiscal year ending June 24th, 1867, and 959 negroes. The old rope walk buildings, and three or four houses near them, were not visited on account of the existence of small pox in that locality at the time the assessment was made. Two thousand negroes were registered, and it is a certain fact that the balance, 1,041, over the number assessed could not have been quartered at the old rope walk buildings. It is the duty of the city authorities to find out where this large increase of negro population came from.—Norfolk Virginian.

They caught Santa Anna at Sisal (pronounced seize all) in Yucatan. We suppose from the name of the place that they seize all whom they catch there.

The census reveals the terrible fact that there are in this country 730,000 bachelors who can never obtain wives, because there is not enough of the other sex to "go round."

The New York Post, intense Radical, mainly sides with the President and Cabinet in the construction of the military acts. It declares there is no warrant in these laws for Gen. Sickles to interfere with trade and industry, or for Gen. Sheridan to turn out and appoint Governors.

WM. H. CROW, GEN'L AGENT

OF THE ÆTNA LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

FOR THE

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRginia, South of the James: Takes pleasure in presenting the following official

ADDRESS TO THE MEMBERS.

July 1st. Assets $6,000,000,00.

There are at present about 700 gentlemen and ladies, citizens of North Carolina, who are members of the Ætna Life Insurance Company. Since I have been Agent in this State, I have paid out to lawful representatives of deceased members $23,000, and $5,000 more will be paid in a few days to the representatives of the late Col. Jno. F. Sanders, of Johnston Co., N. C.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE

Ætna Life Insurance Co.

HARTFORD, CONN.

MARCH, 1867.

We call especial attention to the success of the Ætna Life Insurance Company during the year 1866. We also have the satisfaction to state that its income during the months of January and February of this year has been double that of corresponding months of last year, while losses and expenses have been proportionally less. We hope to maintain this ratio of increase during the balance of this year, which will give your Company SEVEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS ANNUAL REVENUE.—We appeal to each policy-holder to add his influence, and use every effort for the continued success of the Company, as upon this, and a wise and economical management, depend the amount of dividends to be returned to him.

The Officers and Agents of the Company have done, and are doing, everything in their power to make the ÆTNA THE GREATEST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN AMERICA. This we can and will do if you will give us your influence. You can do this by resolving to get some of your friends to insure in the Ætna, and if you cannot fully post them up, send their names to the Agent and he will take pleasure in calling upon them. By so doing, you can put your influence to practical use.

THE DIVIDEND FOR 1867 IS FIFTY PER CENT.

UNEXAMPLED SUCCESS OF THE ÆTNA LIFE,

STOCK COMPANY.

YEAR.	POLICIES ISSUED.	RECEIPTS.
1861	589	$78,633,67
1862	804	94,878,07
1863	1,822	199,952,40
1864	4,577	980,755,53
1865	8,815	1,686,813,61
1866	14,032	3,521,930,80

At the same ratio of increase for balance of this year as up to March 1st. the business of 1867 will be, Policies 28,000. Receipts $7,000,000,00.

This rapid and unexampled progress has been attained in the face of the most energetic competition ever experienced. A few rival Companies and agents are making great efforts, by printed circulars (some of them anonymous) and otherwise, to disparage the Ætna Life Insurance Co., and check its progress. Its management is assailed, its plan of operations falsified, and the press employed to prejudice the public mind, destroy confidence, and retard the Company's rapidly increasing business.

These rivals profess great interest in behalf of the insuring public. Their conduct would be more in keeping with motives so unselfish and honorable, did they confine their remarks to the discussion of principles, rather than descend to the use of incorrect statements and abusive and slanderous attacks upon this Company. The false cloak so often used is too thin to hide their real motive, and the intended injury can do us no harm. The success of the Ætna Life, which is the real cause of this jealousy and bad temper, has been honorably obtained, and without assailing other institutions. The names of rival Companies are not found in its circulars, nor a word to the prejudice of any particular Company. Could we think any other course honorable, the past has been too successful to warrant a change in this regard, and enables us to advise others to depend entirely upon their own merits rather than try to build upon assumed faults of others.

Last silence should be construed against us, we take this occasion, in our annual circular to Policy-holders, to say that, in our opinion, their money and our time are not for newspaper or other controversy, and while our Patrons and Friends may not expect us to publish special answers to attacks that may be made upon the Company, the officers and agents are ever ready and willing to give full and satisfactory information. In so doing, the merits of the Ætna Life are sufficient, and we have no occasion in return to assail others, use their arrows as our shield, or endeavor to interfere with the relations existing between other Companies and their policy-holders.

Some rivals state that the Ætna pays a large amount of dividend to its Stockholders, in face of the reports of the Commissioners of New York and Massachusetts to the contrary (which can be seen at our office.)

The force of this statement of our rivals is also destroyed by the fact that very few Companies have so low ratio of expense and disbursements to income as the Ætna, (excluding dividends to Policy-holders,) and when we consider, in connection with this, that

1st. Over one-half of the Ætna's business for 1866 was new business;

2d. That the Ætna increased its business in a greater ratio than any other Company;

3d. That the principal expense in Life Insurance is upon new business;

It is evident that no Company can pay better dividends to Policy-holders, and few will ever, probably, equal the Ætna.

The entire profits on the Mutual plan, except six per cent. annually on capital, ($150,000,) belong to the insured, and are divided among them every year. See page 20 of pamphlet.

The Ætna offers to the insured, the following advantages over a purely mutual Company.

1st. The additional security of the CAPITAL.

2d. The GUARANTEE of its permanent success in the careful supervision of its business by the directors and stockholders which their pecuniary interest will secure;

3rd. ECONOMY in management, as the general expenses of the Company are divided between the departments.

4th. All the benefits of dividends, and

5th. None of the liabilities usual in mutual insurance.

The Ætna Life Insurance Company has over 37,000 influential Members, well pleased with the Company, and an Annual Revenue of over Three and One-half Millions of Dollars.

It received over Fourteen Thousand Members in 1866.

It has a present ratio of increase which will give an accession of Twenty-Two Thousand Members and Seven Millions of Dollars Income in 1867.

It has over Five Millions of Dollars safely invested at interest.

It has nearly One Million Dollars surplus above all liabilities including present value of all Policies.

It pays Fifty per cent. annual Dividend to Policy-holders, two years sooner on Life Table than most leading Companies.

Of the entire business done by all the Life Companies reporting to the States of Massachusetts and New York, for the year 1866,

The Ætna issued nearly one-tenth of the entire number of Policies.

But one Company issued as great a number of New Polices as the Ætna in 1866, and in the two years of 1865 and 1866 combined, it exceeded even that one, and with less per cent. disbursements in losses and expenses.

The average increase was about 68 per cent. while the Ætna's was 120 per cent.

The per centage of all disbursements for the years 1865 and 1866 combined, was less in the Ætna than in any other leading Company.

It is just to all Companies, in comparing the per cent. expense, to take into consideration the ratio of new business; for the larger the new business the greater the ratio of expense will naturally be for that year.

The average losses in the Companies were $13.32 to each $100 income. The Ætna's were only $8.73 to each $100 income.

SYNOPSIS OF THE BUSINESS OF THE YEAR 1866.

Received for Premiums and Interest during year	$3,556,286.70
Disbursements, Losses, Expenses and Taxes	1,191,225.89
Increase in Assets	$2,365,010 81
Assets, January, 1866	2,036,823.05

Dividend, 1867—50 per cent.
Assets, Jan. 1, 1867, $4,401,833.86.
14,032 new policies were issued during the year 1866.

DIVIDENDS.

Taking into consideration the amount of dividends declared and paid to Policy-holders by the Ætna heretofore (50 per cent.), the time and manner of paying the same, the per cent. of losses and expenses to receipts, economy of management, care in selecting lives, increase of business, and ability to make and pay future dividends to the insured, the Ætna is equalled by few and surpassed by no Company.

"A policy of Life Assurance is the cheapest and safest mode of making a certain provision for one's family. It is time our people understood and practised more generally Life Assurance."—FRANKLIN.

AT THIS DAY the above is not only true, but a Life Policy is the CHEAPEST AND SAFEST WAY of making a certain provision for OLD AGE.

The Ætna makes Non-forfeiting Endowment Policies, payable in case of death; also, payable on attaining a specified age, thus making provision for death and old age. The premiums may be paid in one payment, or in five or ten annual payments until the policy is due. It is a good investment; for the policy-holder will receive a dividend for every year his policy exists, which will in some cases amount to more than the premiums paid the Company.

Policies issued upon all the other approved plans.

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.

OPEN JUNE 1.

This favorite and delightful watering-place, having undergone thorough renovation, is prepared to receive visitors. The owners have made every effort in the outfit and equipment to render the place more than ever attractive to those in quest of recreation, while to the invalid its medicinal waters hold out new hopes of health. It may be confidently claimed for them that they have in a great many cases relieved and in many more cases cured, the following diseases: SCROFULA, and many chronic CUTANEOUS diseases; CHRONIC THROAT, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, CHRONIC DIARRHŒA, DISEASES AFFECTIONS OF KIDNEY and BLADDER, and PILES; and, in connection with the Hot Baths, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

As an appetizer, a tonic, and general restorative to an enfeebled constitution, it is perhaps unrivalled amongst mineral waters. The proprietors have engaged for the approaching season

A VERY SUPERIOR BAND OF MUSIC,

THE BILLIARD AND BOWLING SALOONS,

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1867.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Economical Labor-saving Pump, Agricultural Ware-House, &c.: Mitchell, Allen & Co., 22 Pollok St., Newbern.

The Yadkin College and B. F. Seminary will commence operations on the 1st. of August,—Rev. G. W. Hege, President. We invite especial attention to the announcement.

Dr. Wm. Little, who has just returned to the City from a visit to Honduras, announces his resumption of practice.

OUR MARKET.—The City Market was never so poorly supplied, at this season of the year, as it is at present. We are at a loss to account for this. Butter and eggs, ordinarily so plentiful in Summer, are scarce and command high prices. Vegetables, however, are abundant.

The fruit crop will soon begin, and then, doubtless, the now comparatively empty square will wear a busier appearance. The peach, pear and fig crop promises beautifully, but the recent wet weather has been damaging to vines of all kinds. Consequently, we may expect melons to be scarce or indifferent.

GEN. R. E. COLSTON.—We had the pleasure of a visit from this gentleman, on yesterday. He has just returned from a visit to Virginia and the North, where, we are gratified to learn, he met with substantial encouragement in the interests of the Polytechnic Academy, at Hillsboro, over which he so ably presides. The Fall session of the institution commenced on Monday, under favorable auspices. We know of few institutions in the South more deserving of encouragement, and we trust that the most sanguine expectations of its accomplished and energetic Principal may be realized.

MAIL TO FAYETTEVILLE.—We are glad to be able to announce that a tri-weekly mail line, direct, over the old route, has been established between this city and Fayetteville, and is now in operation. We hope that it may not be long before the old daily line is restored.

QUERY.—Gen. Sickles' General Order No. 48 (what has become of the numbers between Nos. 34 and 48, this deponent knoweth not) prescribes that at noon, to-morrow, one gun shall be fired "for each State," and at sun-down a "national salute" shall be let off. What is considered, now-a-days, a national salute? And are "Districts" to be included in the meridian feu de joie?

"MEMORIAL FLOWERS."—Mrs. Downing has supplemented her exquisite poem, bearing this appropriate title, and heretofore published in the Sentinel, by the addition of the following stanzas, commemorative of two of our "best and bravest." They are to come next to the verse in honor of Pender:

"Let Love-lies-bleeding fling its flower
For ANDERSON, the brave and good,
With Snowdrops in a pearly shower,
And Southern wood.

And bid the Canterberry Bell,
With gorgeous Tulips gemmed with dew,
Ring out a lightly floating knell
For PETTIGREW!"

DRIED FRUIT.

The traveller in the upper counties is often struck with symptoms of the importance of the traffic in dried fruit. In summer the merchants are busy weighing and measuring; and in winter discussing the points of the "fruit business." New stores are arranged with an eye to conveniences for the fruit trade, its storage, etc. Why may it not be a respectable and proper business for any merchant? There was a time when a "Yankee Notion" was a by-word. But, by and by, it has come to be true, that very high brick stores are built now in large cities, with very large signs, in very large letters, "Notions." And these "notions" support many a balmoral, many a fine watch-sealed capitalist; and many a "villa."

Blackberries are aspiring now for equal honors with "yankee notions," and they are gaining ground. They only need to be dealt justly with and they will succeed.

The special object of this article is to call the attention of the Raleigh business men to the dried fruit trade. It is a shame they need to have their attention called to it. If the N. C. Rail Road Co., carried away sixty thousand pounds of this commodity from High Point in 1866, (and I have it from good authority,) why cannot the R. & G. Rail Road be allowed to carry away one hundred and twenty thousand pounds from Raleigh? We certainly have a very large territory to draw from.

But I had the poor people of the country in view, when I began to write. Hundreds come into Raleigh, from all quarters, white and black, to draw rations, until the ration business is likely to grow to immense proportions. Why not encourage these people to gather berries, and dry them for sale?—Some cases of keen and touching sorrow present themselves; but there are many who are strong enough to gather berries. It is the very class who contributed to this sixty-three thousand around High Point, Salem, etc., last year. It enabled many a family to pay taxes up there, and have something over.

As to the demand, it seems endless. This fruit is sent to Philadelphia, I learn, mostly. And all sells that goes there. And as long as this is the case, we had better keep it up. The people only get barter for their fruit, and our merchants would do a good thing for themselves and the poor, too, by putting out their signs, "Dried Fruit Wanted." And no doubt, you will add, that it would be a good thing to advertise for fruit in the columns of the Sentinel. It certainly would be a good postscript, for I am quite a traveller, and I see the Sentinel all the time; and surely that is the kind of paper to "put things into."

No sugar is needed in drying blackberries. They are treated like apples, peaches or any other fruit; simply, literally, dry them on boards, in the sun, and they are ready for market.

Let our merchants post themselves, by regular advices from the Northern cities, and then buy all they can, or enough to fill the demand; and the good times we are all sighing for will begin to dawn. Let it be remembered that dried fruit carried a great many thousand dollars into Forsythe county last year. And all this sort of thing does more to prosper a country, than political speeches. H.

From the New York Times, [Rad.]

RECONSTRUCTION NOT WANTED.

The Republican press throughout the country is emphatic in the opinion that the only object for which Congress is about to assemble is to advance and expedite the work of reconstruction. There are certain members of that body who will probably take exactly the opposite view, and urge action which will really retard and hinder it. Mr. Stevens does not conceal his apprehensions that the actual effect of the reconstruction law will be to bring back the Southern States into the Union too soon; his aim will be, therefore, to throw obstacles in the way of their return. This is not the sentiment of the country, nor do we believe it will be that of Congress. All interests, all sections, and the great mass of all the parties, desire the restoration of the Union at the earliest moment possible, consistent with its safety and the security of the equal rights of all.

In a recent Sunday sermon Beecher said he had no doubt but "there is to be bloodshed yet; a mighty conflict yet that will try men's faith; that will try men's belief in the Lord, and belief in the providence of God."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION—SPEECH OF NAPOLEON.

PARIS, July 2.

The prizes were distributed yesterday.

Napoleon said the people and Kings have come here to crown the ideas of peace and conciliation. France is proud to be great, prosperous and free, not annerved by her material joys. The thoughtful can see the national fibres vibrate for the honor of France. But this noble susceptibility should not create fear for the world's repose, as we here prove our anxiety for peace.

This exposition marks an era of harmony and progress and the triumph of grand moral principles, which, with justice, can alone establish thrones and ennoble humanity.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS—CONGRESS.

LONDON, July 2, M.

Lord Stanly has announced in the House that but little progress had been made in the settlement of the Alabama claims.

THE INDIAN WAR.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.

A letter from Gen. Sherman to Gen. Hancock says: "We must not remain on the defensive, but follow the Indians up and attack them on all possible occasions. We must clear them out between the Platte and Arkansas, and then move in force on them beyond those rivers.

RADICAL DELEGATE.

SAN. FRANCISCO, July 2.

OTTAWA, July 2.

Lord Monck was inaugurated here to-day.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 2.

St. Marie was on the stand. He testified as follows: I asked the prisoner how he got out from Washington. He told me he left the night of the assassination, or the next morning, and said that he was so disguised that none could recognize him as an American, and that he was disguised as an Englishman, with a scarf over his shoulder.

A dispatch from Montreal says that a man in that city will testify that Surratt bought a knife from him in Montreal on the day before the assassination. The prosecution hope to conclude to-morrow.

The arrivals of Congressmen are watched with intense anxiety. The chances of a failure to secure a quorum seem to be increasing. Mr. Wilson, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, has arrived.

The Judiciary Committee had Stanbery and Speed before them, but it is understood that the evidence is of but little importance.

Mr. Greeley publishes his evidence. He had no communication whatever with the President, or members of the Cabinet, or with Mr. Davis, regarding his signing the bond.

The extreme radicals held a small caucus last night at Willard's. A more general caucus is called for to-night.

The President has not been officially notified of or seen Sheridan's letter to Grant.

The Cabinet session to-day is represented as somewhat stormy,—Stanton supporting his views vigorously. It is said that the affairs in Sheridan District monopolized the session.

To-night's train improves the prospect. Mr. Colfax expresses himself as being confident of a quorum in his house.

There are twenty-three Senators present, lacking only four of a quorum.

Immediately after the adjournment of Surratt Court, to-day, a personal collision, between Judge Fisher and Lawyer Bradley, was only prevented by the interference of the officers of the Court.

FROM CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, July 2.

A young freedman, named Frank Smith, has applied to the Secretary of War for a cadetship at West Point from the first Congressional District of South Carolina.

A general closing of the bar rooms in the city was enforced to-day. No drinks can be obtained except at the hotel

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The friends and acquaintances of Rufus K. Ferrall, Esq., and family, are requested to attend the funeral of their late little daughter, SALLIE, from the Baptist Church, on to-morrow, the 4th inst. at 8½ o'clock, A. M.

THE MILITARY LIQUOR LAW—INTERVIEW WITH GEN. SICKLES.—At twelve o'clock on yesterday, Messrs. Hastie, Cobia, Marshall, Bates and Gen. Gurney, a Committee of the Charleston Board of Trade, representing the mercantile interests of this city, waited on Gen. Sickles to confer with him in relation to those portions of General Orders No. 32 which refer to transactions in spirituous liquors.

The several members of the Committee explained to Gen. Sickles the losses, inconveniences and annoyances that might be expected to arise from the execution of his order, and Mr. Hastie presented a statement of them in writing.

General Sickles said that his purpose in issuing the order was to curtail the consumption of ardent liquors in irresponsible barrooms, so as to avoid any danger of riot or disorder in the district during the registration and following elections. He said that he believed that in Charleston all these things might be avoided and that the municipal officers and police would in all cases be sufficient to preserve the peace. This, however, he thought, would not be the case in the country districts, and he could make no exception in favor of this city. He said that the measure was intended to be a temporary one, and would be in force for several months.—Charleston Mercury 27th ult.

We understand that a school book is being circulated in the South which contains the following choice morceau:

"While all the loyal people of the country were rejoicing because the war was so ended, President Lincoln, one of the best men that ever lived, was cruelly murdered in Washington by a young man hired by the Confederates to do the wicked deed."

Delmonico, who addresses the palate of New York, returns an income of $206,504. Dr. Bushnell, who addresses the intellect of the country, returned an income of $400.

By general cable telegrams from Rome, Florence and Paris, dated on the 27th and 28th of June, we have interesting reports of the progress of the great Papal Convocation in the Eternal City, of the military situation in Italy, and the Paris Exhibition. There were four hundred and fifty Catholic Archbishops and Bishops and about thirty thousand priests in Rome on Thursday. The Pope held a public Consistory, at which he delivered an allocution on the situation of the Church and warned its "enemies" of its immense earthly power. The American prelates were treated with marked attention by the Holy Father, who granted them an audience, at which he referred publicly to the great progress, religious and civil, of the United States. The American bishops presented the Pope with two hundred thousand dollars in gold, and an elegant model of the yacht Henrietta, made of silver, which contained fifty thousand dollars in gold coin stowed away below. The Pope lifted the model from the case, saying, "None carpore," ("it is not a steamer,") which was translated by some as "it is not all vapor" which comes from America. His Holiness had only "pleasant words," he said, for all Americans. Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, has been assigned a place on the Pope's right hand at the St. Peter's Day celebration.

The Tribune speaks of the "gentle soothing work of Reconstruction." This is about equal to the "mild confiscation" of the gentle soothing Thad. Stevens.

THE SENTINEL.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1867.

THE MUSIC OF THE SEA.

The grey unresting sea,
Adown the bright and belting shore,
Breaking in untold melody,
Makes music evermore.

Centuries of vanished time,
Since the glad earth's primaeval morn,
Have heard the grand unpassing chime
Monotonously new-born.

Like as in cloistered piles,
Rich bursts of massive sound upswell,
Ringing along dim-lighted aisles
With spirit-trancing spell;

So on the surf-white strand,
Chants of deep peal the sea-waves raise,
Like voices from a viewless land,
Hymning a hymn of praise.

By times, in thunder notes,
The booming billows shoreward surge;
By times a silver laugh inflouts;
By times, a low soft dirge.

Souls more ennobled grow,
Listing the wordless anthem rise;
Discords are drowned in the great flow
Of Nature's harmonies.

Men change, and "cease to be,"
And empires rise and grow and fall;
But the weird music of the sea
Lives, and outlives them all.

That mystic song shall last
Till Time itself no more shall be;
Till seas and shores away have pass'd,
Lost in eternity.

CANNED FRUITS.

The art of preserving fresh fruits in nearly their natural state, by hermetical sealing, is at once so simple and so satisfactory, that its superiority over the old method of making sweetmeats is universally admitted. To those who have not much experience in this process, or who are discouraged by want of success, a few hints may be acceptable.

And first as to the cans—self sealing ones are undoubtedly the best as well as handiest but any other—tin, earthenware, or glass—will answer if perfectly sound. Melted bees wax is sometimes used as a cement. A better one is made by melting and stirring well together six ounces of gum shellac, four ounces of Venice turpentine; to color it red quarter of an ounce of vermillion may be added.

The fruit should be ripe, but not overmellow, free from speck or bruise, and always as freshly picked as it can be procured. To preserve peaches or other fruit whole, wipe them with a coarse towel, and pack them in cans as close together as possible. Set the cans, uncovered, in a vessel of cold or moderately warm water, over a good fire. When the water boils be careful that none gets into the cans, and keep it boiling around them until the fruit is thoroughly heated—about half an hour when quart cans are used, and longer in proportion when the cans are of larger size. Directions are sometimes given to allow the water to boil around them five or ten minutes; but in this time the fruit in the center would scarcely be warmed, and should the can be sealed before the heat has completely penetrated its contents, fermentation will take place. On the other hand, if the heat is continued too long, the flavor of the fruit is injured. As soon as the fruit is sufficiently heated all through, seal the cans before removing them from the boiling water, and with a weight press down the cover of each can until the cement is fully hardened. By this method the natural flavor of the fruit is preserved best; but most persons, for greater certainty, pare the fruit and strew a little sugar between the layers when putting them in the cans. To save time, when there is a large quantity of peaches, quinces or other fruit to put up, it is usual to pare and stone them and let them come to a brisk boil in a preserving kettle, with as little stirring as will prevent them from scorching; the cans being already warmed by standing in hot water, are then filled from the boiling kettle (which must be kept on the fire while the cans are being filled,) and sealed immediately. This takes less time than filling with cold fruit and heating the can up in boiling water, and the fruit is as good, though more broken, than when put up carefully.

Another way is to make a syrup of two or three pounds of sugar to six pounds of fruit, allowing half a pint of water to every pound of sugar. Boil the syrup and skim it; pare and stone the peaches, and throw them into cold water to preserve their color until all are peeled; put them into the boiling syrup, let them boil in it about ten minutes, then, having the cans already heated by standing in boiling water, fill and seal each one as speedily as possible.—For all kinds of fruit this is the best and surest way. Small fruits, especially the strawberry and raspberry, which contain a large proportion of water, shrink and lose their flavor when merely heated like more solid fruits. The safest plan is to boil them about five minutes in a rich syrup, then skim them out and bottle them. In this way a small quantity of syrup will be sufficient for a good many berries.

For stewed fruit of every kind to be used in the winter as sauce or for pies, it is only necessary to stew it as for present use, with sugar enough to make it palatable; then pour it boiling into hot vessels and seal without delay. Any ripe fruit preserved in this way will be found as fresh when opened in the winter as if just taken from the tree and stewed, and much superior to jam, marmalade or dried fruit.

When fruit jars with tin covers are used instead of cans, sufficient cement must be poured while warm into the cover, to form a thin coating all over the inside. As soon as the cement becomes slightly stiff and the jar is filled with the boiling fruit apply the cover, pressing it down firmly, and turn the jar upside down; if the jar has a lip it must also be filled with the sealing-wax. Let the jar get cold standing on the cover, and put it away in the same position. The corks sold with small jars are often defective; no cork should be used except those which are perfectly sound and firm. They must be pressed into the jar or bottle as soon as it is filled, and instantly plunged into the dish of warm cement or sealing-wax. Tin foil is sometimes put on for an additional protection, but is not requisite if the wax is good. Canned fruits, like all preserves, should be kept in a closet or storeroom that is cool, dark and dry.

During a recent slander case there was a large number of ladies present, who caused a gentle murmuring all the while. The usher called out repeatedly, "Silence!" when the judge mildly said: "Mr. Usher, don't you know better than to call silence when ladies are in court?"

At a party once the conversation turned, as it naturally does among young folks, on marriage—the other convenient subject besides the weather, when every other fails.—One of the belles, addressing a beau, quite unconsciously (as she explained) said, "If I were you, and you me, I would have married long ago."

Most females will forgive a liberty rather than a slight. If any woman were to have a man indicted for stealing her picture, although it were set in gold, it would be a new case in law; but if he carried off the setting and left the portrait there, would be no mercy for him.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 32.

HEADQUARTERS, 2ND MILITARY DISTRICT,
Charleston, May 20.

General Orders No. 32

1. Any citizen, a qualified voter according to the requirements of the Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the act supplemental thereto, passed March 23rd, 1867 is eligible to office in the Provisional government of North and South Carolina. All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to co-operate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

6. No license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon or to be drank on the premises shall be granted to any person other than an Inn-keeper. The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8 In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United states, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for ——months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof: that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid, as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make returns of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and to agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
